Lasting Memories

The laughter fades, the days grow dim,
The year too soon departs.
And though they die, it leaves a memory
Glowing in their hearts.

A glow that is the memory of
The happy days we've known,
Of countless friends and puppy love,
Of four years which have flown.

Of four short years that hurried by
And to them now we hold,
The lasting memory sadly reached,
Our graduation – the final goal.

By Donna Woodley

All the Class of 1971 needed was to be told they could never do it . . . and they did the impossible. From Hornet "Bottom Bouncers" and a hippy play to crossroads and Camelot, they accomplished and learned a lot, and had plenty of fun doing it! And of course, without the patience and perseverance of "good ole Mr. Schwartz," as Class Sponsor, they never could have reached their goals.

Coach Clement Corona

Graduating seniors from the 1970 golf team were Jeff Youngs and Daryel Wisely, both contributing their valuable skills to the Saline Varsity Golf Team. The fantastic Hornets, however, need only to pull out of the underclassmen such fine examples of golfers as portrayed by Doug Esch, Todd Davis, Gary Skinner, Mike Mida, and Greg Kuhl to realize the talent still possessed in Saline's linksmen. These, by all means, should iron out any and all problems the absence of the seniors could bring about.

Drive on, Hornets!

"The Long Gold Line"

Hornets' Victory String

Since the closing of the 1968 track season the Hornets seem to have started a chain reaction. Although graduating seniors have left in three seasons it still hasn't stopped the gold line of victories for our thinclads. Ending the 1970 season the gold line still remains infinite. Nothing seems to stop our team from being first across the finish line.

The Diamondmen will be looking for a better season next year. Varsity awards were given to seniors: Dale Bishop, Vic Cook, Richard Goltz, and Bruce Rosander. 1970: Power, Poise and Pride

In the grueling heat of the August sun, weeks before school, football began. High morale, a willingness to work, and a seething determination to succeed characterized the group that greeted Head Coach Merv Ward in his first year in that position at Saline High School. Workouts continued slowly. With each drop of sweat, our football team formed its basic framework for the 1970 season. Confidence mounted and gradually the team developed the most important trait of a champion – although it didn't show in the final statistics – pride. A smouldering coal at first, flickering and gaining strength, pride swelled to a raging fire within each player, thriving on and demanding perfection. The first game approached, and despite the crushing defeat to Vandercook Lake, 14-0, our team managed to regain its pride. But with each discouraging defeat and occasional victory, our team didn't end up with the final proof of pride – the SEC trophy. But, all Salinians still say with firm conviction, Saline High School Football Team of 1970, hold your heads aloft . . . with pride.

The Junior Varsity Football Team, greatly encouraged by many victories and few defeats, finished the 1970 season with a fine 5-2-1 season. They developed their fundamentals in blocking, tackling and running under the supervision and coaching of Mr. Joe Schwartz. The young men of this J.V. squad have shown their capabilities throughout this year and offer great promise for the future years at S.H.S.

The Freshmen Football Team showed a lot of potential in their first attempt at High School football, finishing with a 3-2 record for the season. As coach, Mr. Tony Wiench taught the squad vital aspects of skill and sportsmanship which is so necessary in all sports.

Getting together seemed to be more difficult than ever with the Hornets this season. Injuries and lack of experience seemed to keep the Hornets apart no matter how hard they tried. Half way through the season Captain Tom Laskey and Jerry Hill were forced to sit on the bench because of back injuries. This left only three returning lettermen, Tom Bailey, Keith Smith, and Pete Slepsky to fight their way through the rest of the Hornet Season. Although the Hornets were left with an inexperienced team, the determination to win was still there. The young team shows promise for next year although they ended with a 5-12 overall record and a 4-10 league record.

Leading scorers were Pete Slepsky, Dave Ziegler, Keith Smith and Tom Bailey. Leading rebounders were Dave Ziegler, Tom Bailey, Tom Laskey and Scott Skinner. Other outstanding players were Pat Gill, Jerry Hill, Max Finkbeiner, Dennis Bishop.

Grappler Review

The Hornet wrestlers were tied with Dexter and Chelsea going into the league meet. Although Dexter took first, the Hornets beat out Chelsea and ultimately finished second in the final standings.

Bob Wanty repeated as a league champion by defeating Dexter's Dave Gibbs in the finals at 138, 7-3. Al Ernst won the championship at 167 by pinning Milan's Roy Shields. Don Craigmile was the Hornet's third champion at heavyweight. Steve Kohler was second at 132 as was Steve Ecarius at 98. Jeff Kohler and Paul Queenan ended with ties, Jeff at 119 and Paul at 126.

The final dual record was 12-2. Previous best record was in 1970, 7-3-3.

The Hornets wrestled their best in the tournament, but without the services of one of their co-captains Gary Marion, the Hornets didn't have as good a tournament team as did Dexter.

Saline then traveled to the district tournament, the first leg toward the state championship. From these tournaments only first and second place winners at each weight may advance to the regionals, which were held this year at Madison Heights.

The final results at the regionals were as follows: The two Kohler brothers, Jeff and Steve, finished with thirds, Don Craigmile with a third, Bob Wanty was beaten his first round and the team placed fifth.

Steve, Jeff and Don then went to the state meet at Sturgis. The results were disappointing as Steve and Jeff lost in their first rounds and Don lost in his second. As a result of this, the Hornet wrestling team did not place in the state finals.

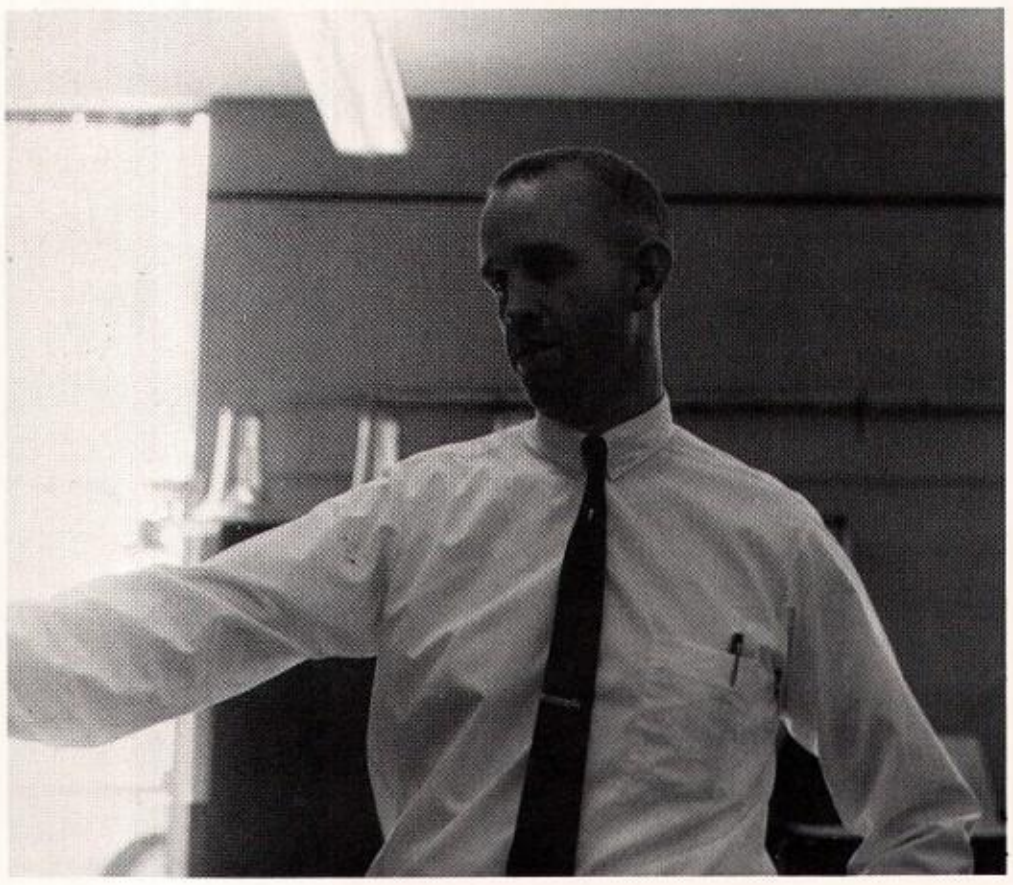
A Band To Be Proud Of



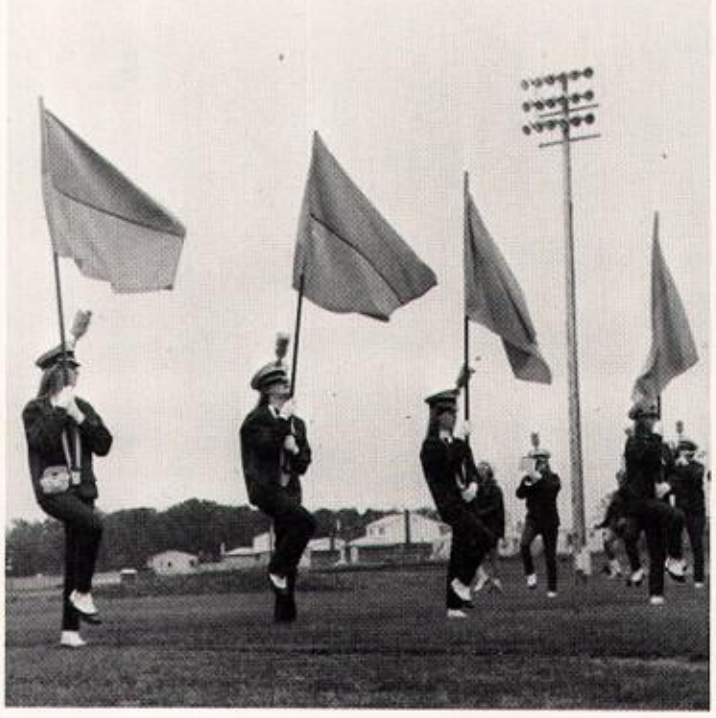
MR. MALCOLM DANFORTH, Band Director

Saline High School certainly does have a band to be proud of. The High School Marching Band reached many new levels of excellence this year, which included three parades, four football games, a marching contest (where they received first ratings), and a feature spot at the University of Michigan Band Day.

Their concert season was just as challenging and as rewarding.

MAJORETTES: L-R: S. Pruitt, V. Ferguson, S. Christner, B. Braun.

Drum Major, Mark Klein

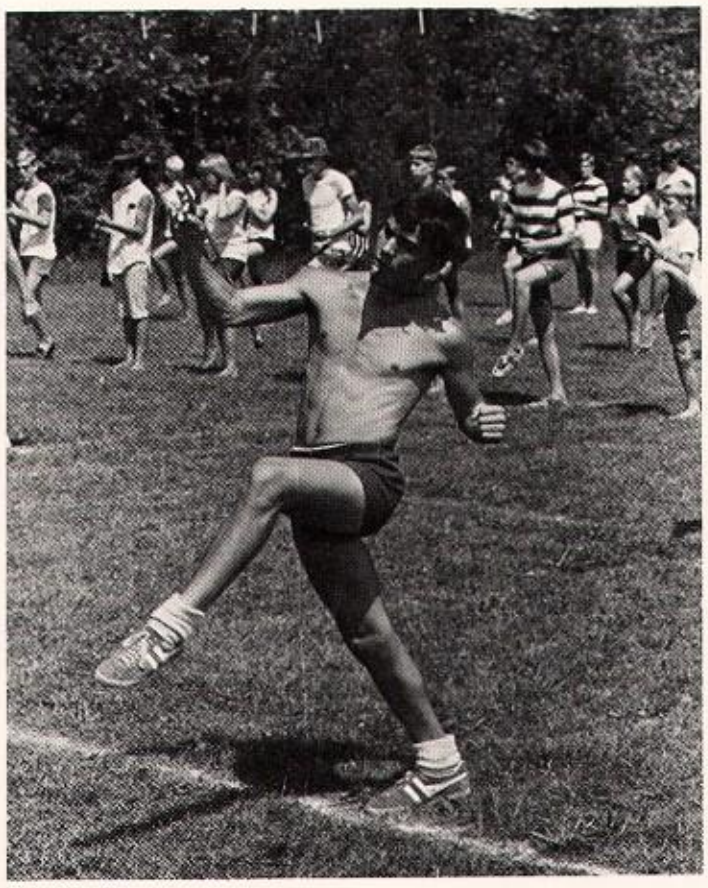


Flag rank moves into formation.

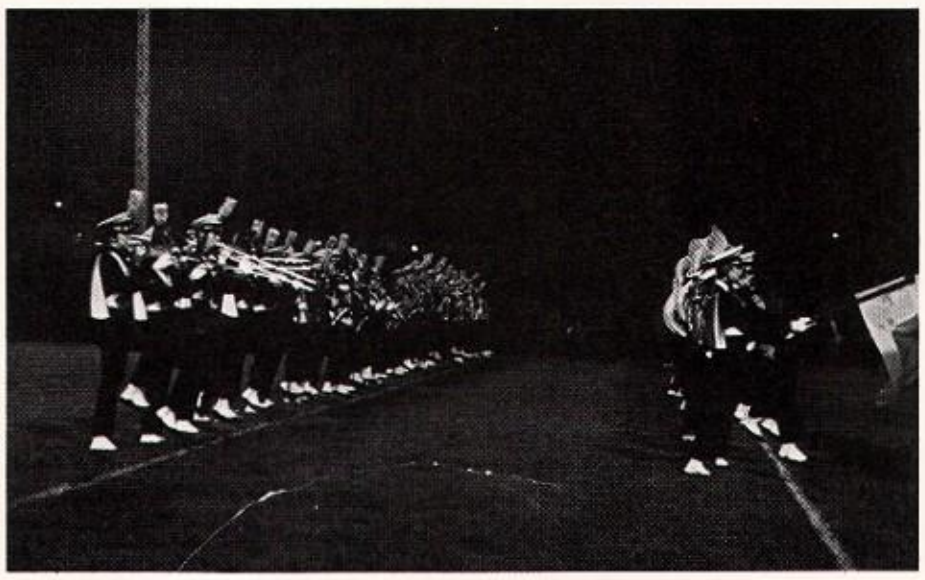
Mark and majorettes lead the band in the fair parade.

Marjorettes doing pre-game performance.

A lot of hard work goes into band camp.



Mark and band work hard for first home football game.



Going down the field for a half time show.

Pep Band Comes Through

It's really remarkable what a group of people can do if they really want to. We could always count on the pep band to help arouse the crowd at both pep assemblies, and games. This year was certainly a successful year as far as the pep band was concerned.

The Impossible Dream (The Quest)

To dream the impossible dream,
To fight the unbeatable foe,
To bear with unbearable sorrow,
To run where the brave dare not go.

To right the unrightable wrong,
To love, pure and chaste, from afar,
To try, when your arms are too weary,
To reach the unreachable star!

This is my Quest, to follow that star,
No matter how hopeless, no matter how far,
To fight for the right without question or pause,
To be willing to march into hell for a heavenly cause!

And I know, if I'll only be true to this glorious quest,
That my heart will lie peaceful and calm when I'm

And the world will be better for this,
That one man, scorned and covered with scars,
Still strove, with his last ounce of courage,
To reach the unreachable stars!

Expansion!

As most people know already the Art Department has expanded. This year there are two rooms instead of one room which has been used in the past. Because of the rapid growth in this department the new school has three rooms.

There will be two general class rooms. Partitioning the back of these rooms will be a set of cupboards and sinks. The two rooms will be separated by a storage room and a small office.

The third room is across the hall and is used as a pottery workshop. The room will be able to hold six potters wheels and two top loading kilns. In this room students will work on their pottery, jewelry and welding.

The new school's art rooms are fully equipped and hopefully will be ready for students next fall.

LANGUAGE NITE

Language Night was held again this year Monday, December 14. This year it was only the German, Spanish, and French Clubs because there is no Latin, Russian, Italian, African, Mongolian, or Swedish clubs.

The Germans did their version of The Golden Goose complete with one rubber duck, one Dummling, and a forever laughing princess.

The Spanish Club did an original skit called, La Navidad Con La Familia Palmas written by the talented third and fourth year students. It was about all a Christmas with the family with a Santa Clause stuck in the chimney, two pigish elves, and a pinata.

The Spanish Club did an original skit called La Navidad Con La Familia Palmas. It's about a Christmas with the family and was written and acted completely by the talented third year students.

The French Club did a revised version of Cinderella. Charming Dan Fett was the charming Prince Charming.

After the skits and singing everyone went to the cafeteria and ate food of French, Spanish and German cooking.

It started and ended as a friendly get-to-gether. At least for one night there was world peace.

TEACHERS

It has come to my attention that some undeserving criticism has been levied against the majority of the teachers here at Saline High School. It was stated, "Teachers. . aren't up to par."

During my years here at Saline High School, I have had wide exposure to teachers. Admittedly, I haven't agreed with the philosophies of some teachers here at Saline High. Admittedly, I have had a few personality clashs with a couple of teachers, but I can think of no teacher that isn't qualified to teach the subject matter of their particular class. The quality of the teachers here cannot be matched by any other school in our league. I doubt very seriously if the quality of the teaching staff can be matche by any high school of comparable size.

Many students complain to the teacher about the class being boring and monotonus, but always fail to offer constructive statements or ideas as to how to go about correcting the situation. The student fails to realize that teachers are human, thus subject to human emotions and very often stay up late at night worrying about what to do in class tommorrow that will be interesting to the student.

I don't feel I, or any other student is qualified to question or object to the method in which a teacher chooses to present the material being taught.

As far as hope for the future in the teaching profession being increased with the student teachers of today, I am hesistant to agree with that. I have witnessed only a couple student teachers in action, but I am concerned with the current trend in the teaching profession. I have my doubts about the future.

So all you teachers at Saline High School, this student feels you are doing an excellent job and will continue to do so in the future.

CLUB RULES REVISED

Listening to the announcements each day over the P.A., I'm sure you've heard information concerning just about every extracurricular activity this year, except, of course, for those few for which there seems to be lack of interest or enthusiasm. One such club happens to be Spanish Club.

Those students who would probably have the greatest response to such an activity would most likely be freshmen or other students presently enrolled in a Spanish 1 class, but these people cannot be expected to be the organizers, as they wouldn't be aware what is involved and how it's been handled in other years. Therefore, the second, third and fourth year students have begun to discuss it, but only vaguely, not with any tentative dates.

For a reason which I don't quite fully understand, there is talk that the procedure of the Club has been abolished and a new one adopted. It involves: the election of representatives from each and every Spanish class, no matter what the percentage of people interested in Spanish Club is. These representatives would then meet with the advisor to discuss plans for activities. The traditional initiation would be abolished, I was told, so that those people who only are interested in participating in one activity wouldn't have to go through an initiation.

I, for one am quite opposed to this plan for these reasons: The first and most important thing is that with only representatives, those people really interested in Spanish Club are likely not to be well-informed about what is going on, and when they do find out and have any ideas or objections, they wouldn't be able to participate in the meetings, anyway.

Initiation has always seemed to bring a little enjoyment to those former members, who went through it themselves. It never involved anything unbearable and the new members realize that it's really just all in fun. If a person is interested enough in participating in the Club's activities, he should be willing to participate in initiation.

Spirit?

The following letter was addressed to the Hornet. Though we usually don't print letters which are not signed, we felt that this letter should be shared with the entire student body. We welcome and encourage your comments. Your name must be signed but is will be with held upon request. Submit your comments to Mr. Slee.

Are pep assemblies worth while? What possible function or service can they do? Does noise created four hours before a game stimulate the athletes? Are cheerleaders really interested in promoting school spirit? Are cheerleaders just status-seeking behind a pom-pom? Futhermore, has Saline High School any school spirit at all? Why should all the studious students like myself, be required to waste an entire fifteen minutes or even half an hour, suffering on those broken-down, splintered, old slabs of wood in the school morgue? Why should I, as superior to most as I am, be forced to cheer for a bunch of losers? I wonder when that ridiculous organization or Pep Club will disappear and hopefully never return to haunt the halls of Saline High School? Hopefully, such organizations won't be carried over to the new high school and the current childish practices will be discontinued.

With any kind of luck, all high school athletics will be discontinued after this year. Why bring any more humiliation on to our already outclassed school? We can also improve our school tremendously by getting rid of loud-mouthed turkeys that call themselves cheerleaders. This whole athletic program, with everyone and everything included, is nothing but a big farce!

Student of Saline High School

In the past, the Club has really just been a means for getting together with other students for a good time, with a mutual interest in the Spanish language, culture, and traditions of Spanish-speaking people. I hope it can continue to be,

If anyone else has an opinion about this, one way or the other, let's hear about it.

Name withheld upon request.

STUDENT COUNCIL ADOPTS CHILD

A new student has been added to Saline High School. She's your little sister from Oklahoma, and her name i is Andercine Berryhill.

Andercine is an Indian child recently adopted by the Student Council. Andercine attends Jones Academy in Oklahoma which is an academy especially for underprivileged Indian children.

Andercine is thirteen years old, and in the fourth grade. She enjoys spelling, and her favorite sport is baseball.

Education is hard to get with little or no money, so the $12.00 that Student Council sends every month to the academy helps toward the furthuring of Andercine"s education.

We should feel grateful to have such a happy and healthy little sister to care for, for the following year.

This poem was recieved by Andercine just recently. We thought it would be appropriate if we printed this little poem from our new sister:

Across the miles-Merry Christmas to You!
They say the winter days are Short. . .
But something must be wrong,
For when it's close to Christmas-Time
The days seem awfully long.

Your Friend,
Andercine
Berryhill

Pep Club is busy keeping the all sport bulletin board filled with basketball items. The Pep Club has also made five posters that are displayed all over town showing the "Hornets" of the week for both basketball and wrestling.

****

Among the winter activities F.H.A. has started, one of the most progressed is Spirit Booster. As you know, last year F.H.A. girls sold gold garters with blue ribbons. This year unstead of making and selling garters, F.H.A. girls are making available Saline Hornet arm patches.

The patches are constructed of navy blue and gold felt. The base of the patches will be cut out of gold felt, and navy blue hornets will be centered in the center of each patch. The initials SHS will be arranged horizontally across the patch.

These patches are being sold to help promote school spirit throughout wrestling and basketball season. They only cost a quarter, so come on and show your spirit by buying a Spirit Booster Patch!!!!!!

On Friday, November 27, 1970, the Biology Club traveled to Ann Arbor to visit U of M's Botanical Gardens. They visited the green house, the cactus house, and the tropical house. They saw all kinds of plants, among them many different varieties of Orchids and they also saw some cocoanut palms.

Due to the weather, the members weren't able to go trail hiking, but accounting for the real live rattlesnakes, many of the members might not have been too enthusiastic to go any way.

After Christmas the Biology Club plans to go back to the U.V. Physicology lab to watch some of the experiments being conducted.

****

All the language clubs were busy this past week with Language Night.

French Club is still busy making thier plans for their trip to Montreal, tentatively scheduled for March 26-30.

Medical Careers Club is investigating the possibilities of fixing up the sick room in the New High School. The Club is also planning to sell pins and charms sometime after Christmas.

LET'S GO GIRLS

The G.A.A. girls were on the go again December 1, 1970 at Lincoln for their last volleyball game of the season.

The Varsity won 2 out of 3 games but the Junior Varsity lost to their opponents. An explanation for the J.V's losing would be the fact that it was a powerhouse game. Powerhouse games are when there is a use of one's fists to hit the ball. Neither the Varsity or Junior Varsity had every played that way before.

There was a couple bad omens before the game. A samll one was getting the bus to start and having to go by car. Then there was the fact that only 5 out of 20 girls knew how to get to Lincoln.

Of course there was the usual of the ball "accidently" attacking players, refs and the crowd.

Two new plays were added to the cascades of catastrophies. They were the tricky "Cindy's Slide" and dangerous "Cindy's Crash".

Now that the girls are finished with volleyball season, basketball is the word that's going around. Eight games are scheduled for the coming season. The opening game will be Saturday, January 9th, at 6:30 p.m. against Manchester. The game will be played here, so come out and help your G.A.A girls start the season out right with a VICTORY!

TO BEAT THE DEVIL

It was wintertime in Nashville
Down in Music Row
And I was looking for a place
To get myself out of the cold
To warm the frozed feelings
That was eating at my soul
And keep the chilly wind off me and
My guitar
Well my thirsty wanted whiskey
And my hungry needed beans
But it had been a month of paydays
Since I heard that eagle scream
So with a stomach full of empty
And a pocket full of dreams
I left my pride and stepped inside
A bar

Actually I guess you'd call it a
Tavern
Cigarette smoke to the ceiling, saw-
Dust on the floor, friendly shadows
Well I saw that there was just one
Old man that was sitting at the bar
And in the mirror I could see him
Checking me and my guitar
And he turned and he said
Come up here boy and show us what
You are
I said I'm dry,
He bought me a beer
Then he nodded at my guitar and he
Said it's a tough life ain't it?
I just looked at him and he said
You ain't making any money are you?
I said you've been reading my mail
He just smiled and said
Let me see that guitar, I've got
Something you aught to hear,
Then he laid it on my ear
If you waste your time talking to
The people who don't listen
To the things that you are saying
To the folk that ain't gonna hear it
And if you should die explaining
How the things they complain about
Are things they could be changing
Through the youth that's gonna care
There were other lonely singers
In a world turned deaf and blind
Who were crucified for what they
Tried to show
And their voices have been scattered
By the swirling winds of time

For the truth remains that no one
Wants to know
Well the old man was a stranger
But I'd heard his song before
Back when failure had me locked out
On the wrong side of the door
When no one stood behind me
But my shadow on the floor
And lonesome was more than a state
Of mind

XMAS with ENG. PUB.

It's Friday afternoon everything seems to be the same as any other Friday, but it's not. Underneath there's Christmas Spirit.

Mr. Slee is yelling at everyone to sit down so he can take roll. Betsey looking forward to the afternoon pep assembly, has just entered in her Blue & Gold skirt and sweater. She's singing Deck the Halls with Signs and Pom-Poms rah-rah-rah-rah-rah-rah-rah-rah-rah.

Over by the window everyone is exclaming about the new fallen snow. Nancy exclaims "Oh boy now all the red squirrels can go skiing this weekend."

"Skiing, are you kidding? When you can be home building a snow man," says Pat.

Oh you hot dog "Nancy says", you're gonna miss all the fun."

Doug comes in and after he is finished admiring himself in the mirror he finally notices the snow.

"We can go skiing, we can go skiing, I've gotta go see Mrs. Marry"

Christy is in the corner trying to figure out the best way to make a snow angel, and not wreck it when she gets up.

Everthoughtful, ever kind Sarah offers to get Pat a carrot for her snow mans nose.

Leslie, who is always busy, is trying to make everything festive by decorating.

Jayne and Marilyn ard in the corner, recounting the past weekend and trying to decide who's really got the best deal.

Out in the hall we see Jennifer and Steve discussing what Steve' is goint to get Jennifer for Christmas. By the way Steve graduated last year. Oh yes Mr. Slee notices that too. Bye Steve, Marry Christmas.

"You guys are never gonna get this Christmas issue out. "Bellows Steve Sheldon; "Get to work you clods! Yes Steve Sweetie," coos the newspaper staff.

Over across the room Diane shouts "Oh Irene bring some crayons tomorrow and we can color."

"That's a splendid idea," says Irene, "we can color the whole room red and green."

But what's this group working at? Why it's Wendy, Liza, Becky, Linda and Donna. What's that low rumble? It's not a rumble, they're humming! They're humming Christmas carols. Debbie and Sue are typing to the rythm of the carols.

Bob says, "Got anything for the sports page?"

"Who's covering the snowball fight out in the parking lot?" answers Doug.

"Who cares about snowball fights in the parking lot? There must be better things to do in a parking lot, says Scott.

Earl, "Right. Want me to go take pictures?"

"NO Earl-that's okay," says Corinne

"Oh, Earl," Pat says.

You see the devil haunts a hungry
Man and if you don't want to join
Him, well you got to beat him
I ain't saying I beat the devil
But I drank his beer for nothing
And then I stole his song
And you still can hear me singing
To the people who listen
To the things that I am saying
Praying someone gonna hear
And I guess I'll die explaining
How the things that they complain
About
Are thing they could be changing
Hoping someone goona care
I was born a lonely singer
And I'm bound to die the same
But I got to feed the hungry in my Soul
And if I never have a nickel
I will never die ashamed
For I don't believe that no one
Wants to know.

GRAPPLERS OFF TO GREAT START

Starting off the year in a right way were the Varsity and Junior Varsity wrestling teams. The Varsity won 26-20. Winning by falls were Steve Ecarius, 98 lbs., Jeff Scott, 105 lbs., Bob Wanty, 145 lbs. and Gary Marion. Winning by decisions were Jeff Kohler 119 lbs. and Don Craigmile.

The J.V. matsmen won 34-20. Winning by falls for Saline were Paul Queenan, Tim Wilkerson, and Mike Kline. Tim Wilkerson won by a decision, as did Jeff Scott, Tim Schumaier and Gary Brown.

Our Varsity however, lost to Vandercook Lake, the toughest team they are expected to play this season. Saline lost 30-16. Gary Marion and Don Craigmile won for Saline, and Steve Ecarius and Steve Kohler both won by decisions.

On December 8, the J.V. and Varsity wrestlers had a successful evening as the J.V.'s clobbered Monroe Catholic Central 41-13, and the Varsity won a breath taken 27-21.

Winning by falls for the J.V. match were Russell Lindeman, Mike Finkbeiner, Scott Sekerda, Topper Brink, Gary Braun, and Jerry VanSickle. Winning by decisions were Tim Wilkerson and John O'Sullivan. There was a forefit in the 98 lb. weight class.

The varsity wrestlers had a tough meet, and after the first five matches the score was 10-10. By the time the heavy weights got ready to wrestle the score was Saline 22, Monroe Catholic 21.

Donnie Craigmile came through with a pin, and Saline emerged the victors. Also pinning for Saline were Jeff Kohler, Steve Kohler and Al Ernst. Winning by decision was Steve Ecarius. Mark Davis and Bob Wanty drew.

A big congradulations goes to all the wrestlers for the fine job they're doing.

Just by chance, have you seen a flash of gold sparks fly by you in the halls on the days of our wrestling meets? Well it's the Varsity cheerleaders SURPRISE! in their new wrestling uniforms.

In the past years Saline's wrestling teams have proven to be one of Saline's outstanding sports, so the cheerleaders decided they would give their support and put their spirit behind the wresting teams.

hornets lose heartbreaker

Saline Hornets opened their basketball season with a heartbreaking loss to Manchester, 70-64.

The Hornets dominated the game for three quarters before Manchester came to life and surged to victory in the final quarter.

The Hornets started off slow as they spotted Manchester a six point lead. Slowly as the quarter came to a close, the Hornets closed the gap and the first quarter ended 19-14, in favor of Manchester.

In the second quarter, the sharpshooting Hornets went to work and blistered the Dutchmen quite thoroughly. The Hornets scored nineteen points to the Dutchmen's six. The half ended with the score Saline 33, Manchester 25.

The Hornets continued their onslaught in the third quarter as Keith Smith, Pete Slepsky and Dennis Bishop popped in basket after basket. Fouls kept Manchester in the game, as they made only three baskets from the floor. The third quarter ended with Saline leading, 48-40.

However, the Hornets seemed to die in the fourth quarter as Manchester simply ran around, over and through the entire Hornet team. Manchester blitzed the Hornets for the entire fourth quarter and outscored them 30-16. The game ended with the Hornets on the short end of a 70-64 score.

Keith Smith and Pete Slepsky led Saline scorers with 15 points, while Max Finkbeiner had 9 in a losing cause. Tom Laskey had 16 rebounds while Tom Bailey hurled down 12.

Cagers beaten

The Saline Hornet basketball team dropped their first league game of the year, a 90-73 decision to Milan.

The Hornets stayed close in the early going as they were down by only one point, 20-19 at the end of the first quarter.

Saline pulled ahead 25-22 early in the second quarter, but from that point on it was all Milan. The vistors poured in 16 straight points and took a 49-39 lead into the locker room at halftime.

Milan dominated the third quarter, outscoring the Hornets 27-13. The quarter ended with Milan on top, 76-52.

The Hornet subs outscored Milan 21-14 in the final quarter.

Tom Laskey led Hornets in scoring with 18 points while Jerry Hill hit for 11. Doug Woolard led Milan with 33 points.

The Hornet J.V.'s were defeated in the preliminary game 59-55. Pat Gill and Mark Teachout each scored 13 points.

The Saline Hornets had their current losing streak increased to three games as South Lyon defeated the Saline Hornets, 69-64.

The Hornets seemed to be sleeping during the first half as South Lyon raced to a 36-25 halftime lead. Then in the third quarter, Pete Slepsky caught fire and brought Saline within two points as the third quarter ended 46-44 in favor of South Lyon.

However, despite the fine performances of Pete Slepsky and Tom Laskey, it was not enough as the game ended with Saline on the short end of a 69-64 score. Pete Slepsky finished the game with 25 points and Tom Laskey had 20. Laskey was the leading rebounder for Saline with 9. South Lyon had the edge in rebounding, as they dominated the boards with 55 rebounds to Saline's 22.

SUPER SENIOR UNDERGROUND

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

On May 8, the Junior class of Saline High School presented one of the best junior- senior banquets in recent times. It was an even filled with good food and humorous entertainment.

Starting off the eventful evening was a delicious meal consisting of roast beef and gravy, mashed potatoes, vegetables and pine apple upside down cake for dessert. The guests then retire to the little theatre to enjoy the tremendously funny skit put on by the juniors--a reading if the class prophecies the senior wills and the senior history, with a couple of appearances by Cal Cogar. The evening then came to a close as Gary Marion gave the traditional farewell speech.

Saturday night, May 15 the major part of the junior and senior classes and even a few sophomores and freshmen took an exciting trip "Through the Looking Glass" into a beautiful wonderland of sound and color. After traveling through a mysterious rabbit hole the couples entered a lovely garden, complete with flower beds, bridge and even a lovely fountain. A pond with gold fish attracted many couples to toss in a coin in hopes that some romantic wish would be fulfilled. The rabbit himself, and eight foot masterpiece, stood guard over the photographer as he snapped the smiles of the anxious fellows and gals. On the other side of the garden, The Whiz Kids put forth satisfying sounds of soul and for four beautiful hours teachers, parents and students alike forgot their regular roles and danced amidst each other. Punch, pretzels and other delicacies were available in one corner and in the other corner, outsiders could look in on all the sharpe looking couples. The Juniors should certainly be commended for their terrific job on the Prom, which was in its entirety a complete success.

Another Case Solved

The people in the Saline area can rest much easier now because four of the roughest thugs ever to walk this earth have been apprehended. The "Truency Gang's" headquarters was discovered by an alert "infiltration," Mrs. Doris "The Rock" Lindemann. Mrs. Lindemann, acting upon an anonymous tip from informer Ed Aluk, gave the house of ring leader Leslie Thomas a call and got a valuable clue. No answer. "Hmmmm!" said Mrs. L. So she proceeded to call hideouts of Kathy Klein, Barb Braun and gun moll Sarah Christner. The pieces of the mystery slowly fell into place. After getting no answer for the fourth consecutive house, she said, "That's funny, no answer. I'll try at 1:00 p.m." Then the news hit the lunchroom. A large "hurray" was shouted. The administration knew they had to act quickly. What was the type of action to be taken? "A grand jury investigation!" cried Mr. Schwartz. "How about a senate sub-committee conference," bellowed Mr. Hill. "Get a lynching mob," yelled Mr. Hintz. Cool, calm and collected Mr. Thibault said, "Please, please. Let us remain calm and put our heads together and plot our strategy. Here are the possibilities: a grand jury, a senate sub-committee, a lynching mob and possibly we could call in the FBI. However, I suggest that basically our best choice is our secret weapon."

Everyone gasps!

"You mean . . . !" echoes the crowd.

"Yes!" Mr. Thibault says.

"Isn't that kind of inhumane? After all, they're just babies," sobs "Rocky" Roon.

Mr. Thibault replies, "I know it's drastic, but it's our only choice. Bring in Mr. Corona."

The epilogue in a moment.

The defendants, Leslie Thomas Sarah Christner, Barb Braun and Kathy Klein were found guilty by Mr. Corona and are currently serving their sentences after school at San Quentin High School, Saline, Michigan.

A TRIBUTE TO MR. SCHWARTZ

The class of 1971 would like to use this opportunity to say a fine thank-you to our fearless leader Mr. Schwartz. We realize that your task has been tedious and strenuous, and often times unrewarding, yet you never let us down. Your unselfishness and true devotion to teaching, athletics, and the betterment of young people is a characteristic you can be proud of. Your companionship and friendship combined with your advice and guidence has contributed tremendously toward some measure of success in every individual. Our experience with you has been rewarding and beneficial. Mr. Schwartz has been wanted, needed, and greatly respected. Mr. Schwartz will always remain an inspiration and dear friend. Mr. Schwartz, the class of 1971 says thank-you for everything.

The biggest highlight of junior high was when Cal Cogar proposed to Mrs. Schidt. and the modeling show in which Kathy Klien wore the bathing suit in front of the whole school. If one person stands out it has to be Tedi Alexander. Tedi went steady with everyone - such as - Kevin Armbuster, Doug Bacon, Bobby Greenfield, Jerry Hill, Keith Smith, Mark Klein and Tom Young. Maybe it was her low-cut sweaters. Mr. Reynolds carved himself into the memories of all of us when he made all the girls kneel down and he measured the shortness of their skirts. The cheerleaders in 8th grade were Kathy Dieterle, Ann Prosser, Marilyn Leanord, Wendy Weidmayer, Leslie Thomas, Liza Collins and Vicki Mann. The student council officers were, Pres. Cal Cougar, VP. Jerry Dennison, Sec. Sarah, Tres. Peggy Webster. Some of the new faces that came in junior high were Tedi Alexander Leslie Thomas, Liza Collins, Ed Aluk, Jerry Dennison, Karen Smith, Pat Wilson and the intelligent, handsome, considerate, tactful, kind, generous and all-round good kid Steve Sheldon.

As mother nature did all the fasinating and wonderful things she does to all adolecents, Steve Hoefts zeal for women increased considerably.

At last, we made to the all-mighty high school. We were freshmen at last. Our class officers were- P. Leslie, VP. Pam M. Sec. Sarah C, Tres. Liza C. - Our only cheerleader was Wendi W. - the homecoming representive was Laurie Ormsby. Our class party, like most projects undertaken by freshmen was a flop. The class float was "Stew the Vikings" and like the party it plopped.

The highlight of the freshmen year, very scarce, was when Dave Blinn made his gym squad yell at Sarah all during the period and when Tom Ladkey threw a wild elbow into the fire alarm and it went off. Spanish class was a big hit. Ralph Rily, Gary Jedele, Keith Smith and Steve Sheldon sat together and cheat sheets began very popular. Rily, who supposedly was the brains of the outfit, struggled through a vocabulary quiz and we offered him our own cheat sheet. He took them and then a moment later said, thats not right and then pulled out his won. Cheat sheets were fine until it got to be such a paint to make them and we bought a book and just ripped out the pages instead.

In 10th grade, things really started to happen. Officers were P. Keith S., VP. Mark K., Sec. Sarah & Tres. Liza, cheerleaders Mary L., Leslie Thomas, Wendi, homecoming Rep. Sarah. Our float was a large submarine named "Send 'em to the Bottom" and sure enough it sundk straight to the bottom.

It was in the sophmore year that Keith Canburn ate a fly in Mrs. Carr's class & then got kicked out of class. Mr. C. said from now on eat breakfast. Also, Jerry Dennison pulled the chair out from under Mrs. Carr as she sat down and poor Mrs. Carr went straight to the floor. Jerry was kicked out too. It was here that Mr. Schwartz began to age noticably. Another big hit was the yarn maze in Mrs. Masters class & she never realized it despite she constantly tripped over it. And Doug Bacon who is always at the right place at the right time, caught his sister's slumber party skinny dipping in the pool.

As time kept racing on, the class of 71 were now juniors - the class officers were - P. Phil B. VP. Gary M. - Sec. Jayne Tres. Leslie - cheerleaders - Jayne, Marilyn, homecoming rep. was Wendy. The junior class float this year was Snoopy. And an unprecendinated event happened at homecoming 1970, the class of 1971 places somewhere other than last for the first time. Snoopy rode high atop his dog house. One of the highlites of the football season was the amazing "Voice of the Hornets" and how he squeeked to break the crowd into a roaring laughter. Also, another outstanding event was the formal dinner that Jayne Swihardt and Ann Renton had together. Phil Burkhardt entered into the limelight when he sat on the sink in the boys locker room and broke it right off the wall. There was hot water spraying in every direction with about six inches on the floor.

Of course, we can't forget about the time when Mike Campbell stabbed Ralph Rily with a pencil. However, as juniors play in which about thirty juniors turned hippit to pull off the hillarious play, Hip Hippie Hooray! Also, the juniors combined forces and the prom came off a complete success.

And now the last chapter of the class of 1971's history has arrived. Seniors. The big bad seniors at last. We were the only class to have senior-it's as freshmen. Class officers - Pres. Gary M. Sec. Jane Steiner, Tres. Leslie Thomas, Tripfund Tres. Sarah C. - Cheerleaders - Jayne - Capt. Wendy

The homecoming queen was Sarah Chrintner with Donna Woodley as the senior representive. The class float, UP, UP and Away went down, down and out as it met with an unfortunate accident and collapsed. Returning to style, the seniors float was last. As seniors, you are supposed to be setting the example for the rest of the school. And to show we were capable of such a task we had such figures as Don Craigmile, who made paper-dolls out of his Business Law book. Or there is Tom Young who threw a kitchen knife and stuck it inot the bullentin board. Tom Baily was also a good example for younger kids when he lit a fire-cracker in hall and it exploded. Then, of course there is Jerry Hill, who made a paper airplane in VanderSchel's class and sailed it across the room and right out the open window. Ed Aluk, Mr. Pope himself, got into the act when you recieved 48 E's because of his trip to Florida was unexcused. But, as selected by an anomious judge, here are the real leaders of the senior class.

Mr. Schwartz's Awful Eight

1. Most infamous - Jerry Hill
2. Rip Van Winkle Award - Gary Marion
3. First in Lunch Line Award - Barb, Tedi, & Kathy K.
4. First out of parking lot - Keith Feldkamp
5. "Wool Puller" - Bruce Morton
6. Best predigitator - Tom O'Sullivan; Dishonorable mention - Ed, Jayne, Joan
7. Best procrastinator - Cal Cogar
8. Glad he's graduating award - Class of 1971

And so it is, another chapter in the history of Saline High School is slowly, and I mean slowly, coming to an end, but one thing you can rest assured--Steve Hoeft always got his woman.

Senior Adventure

Saturday, May 29th, seniors will be embarking on another exciting, educational, fun-field, drunken senior trip. At approximently four o'clock a.m. forty-two eager-beavers will be bouncing out of bed in joyous anticipation of the cramped week before them. Scrambling out the door Mrs. Barland reminds Patti that a breakfast without orange juice is like a day without sunshine-Patti cries, but it's raining!!

With high hopes of a brand new, super-capacity deluxe bus, it rolls up looking alot like old number 3. Just as we begin to load, an on-the-spot luggage inspection is taken. Custom's officers unload half of Gary Busha's personal belongings. Departure already being delayed we're finally ready to leave. As the key turns in the ignition, everyone sits up in the edge of their seats (if they were lucky enough to have one!!) and lo and behold-the battery's dead.

Finally, believe it or not, we're off!!

Our first stop happened to be the rest area. For awhile we began to think our whole trip would be to the bathrooms and back!!

Arriving at Gettysburg some few hours later, we view the battle grounds and special Electric Map. We were fortunate to sustain only three casualties (Craigmile, Feldkamp, and Hill) who were careless(?) while playing on an old cannon. Dinner was served in the Gettysburg cafeteria where it tasted like it had been cooked back during the Civil war. After making the unusual amount of rest stops we finally arrived at the Taft Hotel in New York and were more than ready to hit the sack. (After a meal like that, you would be too!)

Rise'n shine!! Nothing terribly unusual happened at breakfast the next morning except Ken Holland lost three fingers attempting to catch his change as we went through the Automat Cafeteria.

While touring lower Manhatten, Debbie Hammond and Gwen Teachout became ingrossed in a head shop and missed the bus. During the tour of the United Nations, Leslie Thomas somehow disappeared; last we heard she was sweet-talking a foriegn Ambassador. (ou-la-la!!) That evening Kathy Dieterle got so excited watching the Rockettes at Radio City Music Hall that she decided to join them and we never saw her the rest of the trip.

Rise'n shine!! As usual breakfast began in the Automat Cafe. Next we ventured into a subway headed for Battery Park and the Statue of Liberty. Squeezing through the crowd everyone seemed to manage but Barb Burchum and Debbie Williams. They being the smallest must have been lost in the crowd. Hey, remember the tall lady with the burning torch? There's someone everyone should meet. Dave Martin and Linda Charlton never came down. (They said they were too tired to walk back down!!) Happy Holiday the afternoon's free! Well, like always Connie Bersuader and Liz Campbell made very good use of their free time. Somehow they just weren't feeling up to par for the night's activities. Splitting into two groups we were all excited about going to the Copacabana and the Broadway play. Everyone had a great time at the night club, especially Donna Woodley who finally felt back at home as she joined forces with Gladeys Knight and the Pips. Steve Hoeft portrayed his Playboy image once again as he hustled a cigarette girl. Ariving back at the hotel we find the Broadway production was a smash, after Liza Collins and Jean Herter replaced the director and leading lady.

Rise'n shine! An old habit formed we began our day with breakfast at the Automat Cafe. After breakfast we pack-up and away we head for Washington D.C. No difficulties arose on our way. We did however notice our group was slowly beginning to decrease. We started our tour of Washington with lunch at Scholl's Cafeteria which soon became a very familar spot. While touring the Smithsonian Institute we somehow misplaced four more students. (Jim Fiegel, Jo Anne Noye, Jane Steiner, and Sue Wackenhut.) Next we checked into the Hospitality Motor Inn and then back to Scholl's for dinner. After dinner we visited Iwa Jima War Memorial where everyone returned to the hotel safely and soundly. A long day ends with laughter as Mrs. Swartz tells a bed time story.

Rise'n shine!! Moving on to a new site we park ourselves at Crystal Plaza Hot Shoppe for breakfast. Teresa Weber ran short on cash and the madtor offers her a job as a dish washer or a trip to Washington Coliseum. At 8:30 a.m. we decide to tour the F.B.I., White House, Bureau of Engraving, Ford Theater and Peterson House. Gary Jedele decided to remain for finger printing when an F.B.I. agent picked him up for an escaped convict. At the White House we hear Tom Bailey starting his campaigne ror the 1988 elections. He is now awaiting his inauguration. Bob Harsh remained at the Ford Theater to do a tune-up job. Just as we thought we found a new dining spot. It was back to Scholl's. Next we visited Arlington National Cemetary and watched the changing of the Honor Guard. Everyone except Gary Marion started complaining about their feet hurting and so we decided to return to the hotel for a swim before dinner.

Just as we began leaving Gary made a quick change with on of the guards. The swim before dinner was so relaxing that Anne Renton and Sue Daneffel decided to remain behind. (Only because watching the life guard put them to sleep). At the National Historical Wax Museum Phil Duva and Charlene Whipple decided to open a concession stand. Seeing Washington at night must have enchanted everyone for all the way back to the hotel not a word was spoken (Everyone was thinking about the wild party planned earlier that day!!). As we all began sneaking down to Kathy Payeur's room where it was to take place Sarah Christner and Barb Braun got caught. Mr. Swartz soon put a stop to that, but later on in the evening...Wow!!

Rise'n shine!! Feeling as if a lead hammer had been dropped upon our heads we headed back down to the Crystal Plaza Hot Shoppe for breakfast. Teresa was still washing dishes. After checking out of the hotel, we were off to the U.S. Capital. It was here our tour guide noticed the large decline in the group as he went to take the group photo. With only the few seniors left he decided to continue the tour to see if he could lose them too. He was sucessful for somewhere between lunch at School's and our departure for Luray, Virginia, Elaine Perkins and Linda Sells came up missing. Rumor has it, that they were with the Supreme Court. The bus trip home somehow didn't seem quite as crowded for Joan Robinson, Donna Roberts, Diane Reese, and Linda Ceronsky. And after stopping at Luray Caverns it wasn't crowed at all. As Mr. and Mrs. Swartz and the tour guide settled down for a buffet dinner at the "Old Virginia" they really seemed quite puzzled. Losing 42 students must have been some shock to them. The three of them arrived at Saline High still in a daze.

As Mr. Swartz went over his list crossing out names for awards that night he almost fainted as we piled into receive them.

THOSE WERE THE DAYS...

As old father time keeps slowly moving along, it does the heart and soul some good to reminiscence. It is interesting to see how 150 brats and bullies are turned into 150 morons 12 years later. Here is the inside story of what education is all about.

At the ripe old age of five, you realize that it is time to park the tricycle and hang up the roller skates, and begin the boring and ridiculous task of going to school.

Kindergarten, ah yes, good old kindergarten. Finger painting, block building, dolls, trucks and the old class favorite, naptime on the rugs. Kindergarten, the opportunity for creative expression. A class characteristic, even apparent in kindergarten, was an extreme lack of motivation. Teachers, councelors and concerned parents worried over this until they finally discovered the right medicine to shoot into our systems. It was a universal drug. Something that all the kids could "turn on" to. And what was the miracle drug, graham crackers and milk. And not just any graham cracker. It had to be Nabisco's Honey crisp graham cracker and Twin Pines milk. In the social scene on the playground, there was everything from the bully to the baseball player. Liz Campbell made the social scene in kindergarten. How?, do you ask. It was simple. She was on the slide in the playground and yelled, Hey boys come here! Then as the boys gathered at the bottom, Liz slid down in her pretty little dress. However, she forgot to wear her underpants that morning. The gossip columns were filled as Cal Cogar went steady with Donna Luckhardt. The innocent Kathy Klein and David Pasonias went steady also. Steve Hoeft, that wily old devil, manuvered his rug over by Becky Smith and thus started his career as "play boy."

The class of 1971 continued on with their date with destiny. Graduating from kindergarten babies to first-grade snots. The look of the class was changed somewhat as some new faces were added. These were David Wahl, Marilyn and Barb Gilbert, Roberta Stevens, Ann Butler, Gwenn Mann, Kathy Louden and Tom Young. One of the biggest thrills of elementary school was eating first hot lunch. The longer they ate, the more the thrill wore out. Mrs. Dicks, the dear soul, was named the eraser-throwing champ of elementary school. But once Duane Feldkamp rose to the challenge and retaliated and threw his boot at her geranium plant. One of the big events in grade school was the spelling bee. The spelling bee champs of the class were Kathy Johnston and Linda Sells. And remember recess. How you were kicked out with the cold winds blowing and everyone huddled up by the building to keep from freezing. Or how about the time when Greg Kuhl and David Brown got tongue-tied when they put their tongues on a metal bar on the playground in the winter and unfortunately they stuck. Finally, warmer weather came and the kids watched in amusement as Kathy Johnston and Kathy Dieterle galloped around the elementary school as horses. The kids really stared as Jane Steiner "lost" her pants up a tree on the playground.

And if that didn't have them buggy eyed, Peggy Webster walked around with her dress lifted over her head. Then after a stimulating recesses, they returned to class to continue with their education. However, sometimes their study time is interrupted. Like when Kathy Klein wet her pants in front of her second grade class with black tights on and then laughed her fool head off. That could be somewhat distracting. Bob Wild, the mild-mannered kid of the class, became known as the class "tattle tale". Steve Hoeft's list of girl friends continued to grow.

From the elementary school blues, the class of '71 advanced to the junior high bores. But that didn't mean junior high was uneventful.

Don't think that for a minute. Junior High was definitely not uneventful. Just ask Sarah Christner. Do you remember you lost your wrap-around skirt during recess. Or when the bully of the class, Liz Campbell, kept fist-fighting with Gary Marion, Doug Bacon, Don Craigmile and Cal Cogar, and most of the time, she won. And if we were all good little boys and girls, we would get a special treat. A puppet show. Oh neat, a real live puppet show. And at the completion of each show, the kids would sit and wonder that one very important questions. How many claps? Another treat was Mrs. Pellegreno's English Class and their broadway production which had an all-star cast including Sally Nelson as the cranberry, Joan Erskine as the tatoe, Laurie Orsmby as the pumpkin, Donna Luckhardt played the corn and Judy Sharkey was the turkey. And everybody remembers when Cal Cogar got stuck in a locker in 5th grade and cried. The real fireworks started as the class of '71 became 7th and 8th graders. Like when Charlie Plummer took his trip down the hill in a barrel and his glasses flew off and he was knocked out at the bottom. Or when Tedi Alexander was shoved into the boys shower room when Jerry Dennison and Cal Cogar were undressed. Speaking of shower rooms, Jerry Hill still has the record of 8 towels and one tennis shoe. The athletic ability of our class is simply fantastic. For example, Greg Kuhl climbed the rope for the first time and once he reached the top, he hollered, "Hey look I made it!" and then he fell all the way down and sprained his ankle. Another good example is when no one knew how to do a flip on the trampoline and Cal said that he would show us all how to do it. Well he did it, but it took the whole class to get his head out of the springs. Not all athletic events are done in the gym. Like when Pat Barland and Paul Lindemann had a pea-fight in the lunchroom. Or when Barb Braun was caught swinging on the braces in the bathroom on the 2nd floor. And the time when Jane Steiner and Tom Young made good use of the band practice room. I'm sure everyone remembers the roller skating party and the extra-curricular activities that occured in the back of the bus. (These activities brought about a new exciting experiences that had never been experienced before. And they all started on the back of the bus. However, as our bodies matured our minds remained squirrely.) Speaking of squirrels, what a better way to tell about when Bobby Griffin taped a squirrel-tail on the back of Mrs. LaRue. Or when Phill Burkhardt got so embarrassed in science class when he had to read aloud about pollination. Don Craigmile, who isn't a squirrel but a big nut, held his breath and passed out in Home Ec. class. Despite all the squirrel and nuts in our class, there were some pretty sharp and clever kids too. Like Jerry Dennison when he hid in his tubu case from Mr. Reynolds-and never got caught. Or the English classes that had fun seeing how many SRA speed-readers could pile up outside the window. The girls got in the clever department as Tedi Alexander, Peggy Webster, and Cindy Hammond were chicken champs.
